Ipswich Confirmed As 2010 Rotax Nationals Host

Each year there is one event that a Rotax racer simply can't afford to miss...the Rotax Nationals.

Willowbank raceway in Ipswich QLD has been confirmed as the host for the 2010 Rotax Nationals on 3rd, 4th & 5th September 2010. Established in 1959, Ipswich Kart Club has 50 years of kart racing history and has hosted many National events.

After some hiccups with track quality in 2009 the brand new surface was re-opened on 15th January 2010. The new asphalt is twice as expensive as previous surface and is the club's adversities last year."

"In an era of clubs screaming out for help, and volunteer services becoming impossible to find, it is great to see the IKC is bucking this trend and has the growing support of its members. It is to these members we say, thank you - and keep on bucking!"

Willowbank raceway offers many fantastic vantage points, a covered grid area, officials towers and a great covered canteen area.

Make sure you add the 2010 Rotax Nationals to your 2010 race schedule...you wouldn't want to miss out on the opportunity to get the elusive No 1!

of a similar quality to the Albert Park F1 track in Melbourne. With the commitment from Boral to rectify the problems with the track surface and a huge amount of volunteer work from its members, Ipswich Kart Club have re-opened a great looking new facility and are dedicated to hosting a successful National Championships in September.

"The real heroes here are our members" said the club's President, John McSpedden. "The fact that we're opening so soon is testament to the character of these members, despite
